

Amazing Alliteration

When a group of words start with the same letter or sound, it is called alliteration. It makes the writing sound more interesting or funny.

'Don't hog the hedge!' uses alliteration.

Part A

Pick a noun (the name of the habitat) and a verb (doing word) to make each sentence alliterative (use alliteration). Don't forget to add the punctuation mark.

Don't push me out the pond.

Don't break the _____

Don't destroy the _____

Don't hurt the _____

Don't _____ the _____

Don't _____ the _____

Don't _____ the _____

Don't _____ the _____

burrow

kick

kennel

rainforest

spoil

wreck

barn

den

sty

bash

hive

Now, use three of these new habitats and think of a main character who might live in each one. Remember that the name of the character must be alliterative too. Here is an example: Bertie the Bunny lives in the burrow.

_____ the _____ lives in the _____.

_____ the _____ lives in the _____.

_____ the _____ lives in the _____.

Amazing Alliteration

When alliteration is used in a sentence, it can make it funny or tricky to say. Here is an example: Hattie the home-loving hedgehog happily hogs her hedge.

Part B

Fill in the missing words to finish these sentences and draw a picture to illustrate each one.

Grab the green _____ growing on the _____.

Tidy _____ takes his _____ to his _____ tie.

_____ Jack _____ over jellies and jets around _____

Tim

tricky gymnastic jiggling

jumps

time

gravel

tie

jellyfish

grass

★ Challenge Task ★

Open the dictionary and find a verb (doing word): kiss.

Think of a noun (object) that starts with the same sound: kitten.

Think of a person's name that starts with the same sound: Kim. Write them in a silly sentence. Put a line under the letters that make it alliterative. Here is an example:

Kim kisses the kitten.

---

---

This time, find a noun (object or animal) in the dictionary. Think of a verb and a name that start with the same sound and write them in another silly sentence here:

---

---

Amazing Alliteration Answers

Part A

Pick a noun (the name of the habitat) and a verb (doing word) to make each sentence alliterative (use alliteration). Don't forget to add the punctuation mark.

Don't push me out the pond.

Don't break the barn/ burrow!

Don't destroy the den!

Don't hurt the hive!

Don't spoil the sty!

Don't kick the kennel!

Don't bash the burrow/barn!

Don't wreck the rainforest!

Answers will vary but must include a name and an animal that start with the same letter or sound, e.g. Derek the Dingo lives in the den; Pedro the Penguin lives in the pond.

Part B

Grab the green grass growing on the gravel.

Tidy Tim takes his time to tie his tricky tie.

Gymnastic Jack jumps over jellies and jets around jiggling jellyfish.

Challenge

Answers will vary but must include a verb, name and noun e.g. William watches the windmill.

Yolanda yanks the yo-yo.

Freddie flips the fish fingers.